six times the state rate if they fail to register such intangibles with the state treasured by Oct. 1. Notwithstanding this fact, it was said this week at the state treasurer's office that the last few days had not seen any considerable rush for such registrations.

Owners of such intangibles have the option of paying taxes on them either to the state or to the town in which they live. In most cases it is greatly to the advantage of the owners to pay the tax to the state, as the state charges at the rate of only four mills on the dollar, whereas the prevailing tax rate in nearly all towns is many times that rate.

The body of Eliphaiet Tuttle, 95 years of age, who died Tuesday in Preston, was prepared for burial by Undertaker C. A. Gager, and on Wednesday was sent to his home in Plainville, this state. Burial will take place in Plainville, to the state, as the state charges at the rate of only four mills on the dollar, whereas the provailing tax rate in near-ity all towns is many times that rate.

To be exempt from local taxation on their intangibles, the state law requires the owners to its them with the state treasurer prior to the taxing date for the town in which allows holders of intangibles to list them with the state to give the owners a certificate of local tax exemption for the period for which the tax has been paid. Only such New London people as have self the state tax on their intangibles for one year and such people as have self the state tax on their intangibles for one year since Oct. 1, 1921, will be exempt from local taxation on on their intangibles without registering these bonds, notes and choses in action with the state treasurer by Sunday. The state tax covers the intangibles for one year from the date they are registered with the state treasurer.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION IN SYBACUSE, N. Y., TODAY Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 27 .- Democratio systems, N. I. Sopt II.—Democratical leaders and delegates passed the day in conferences and political maneuvering and ionight, on the eve of the convention were far apart regarding a choice for the governorship nomination. Advocates of the nomination of Former Governor Alfred E. Smith, declared the day's developments brightened the Smith outlook and they predicted his nomination. Adherents of William R.
